Jennifer Johnson
Executive Director, North America Strategy
Yanfeng Automotive Interiors

Jennifer Johnson is Executive Director, North America Strategy, for Yanfeng Automotive Interiors. In this role, she is part of the region's senior leadership team and is responsible for developing strategies and implementing actions that support YFAI's short and long-term goals.

She joined YFAI in January 2018, from Toptal, a company that provides on-demand technology talent. In this role she designed and launched a business model to address the industry's number one talent issue: access to software developers skilled in connected vehicle enabling technologies.

Johnson has worked in the automotive industry for 24 years. Prior to joining Toptal, she founded the Michigan offices and automotive practice for Patina Solutions, an on-demand professional services firm. Before that she spent 20 years at Johnson Controls, where she held leadership positions in engineering, finance, strategy, and general management. She also served as the President of Intertec Systems, a joint venture company and manufacturer of instrument panels.

Jennifer holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from Kettering University and a Master's in Business Administration from the University of Michigan Ross School of Business.
